

MILL CITY GROWS IS GROWING AND MOVING THIS SPRING
Lowell-based non-profit is relocating to historic Wannalancit Mills

[LOWELL, MA] - On April 1, 2019, Mill City Grows will officially move our headquarters from our current location at Western Avenue to a new office suite at Wannalancit Mills. Our new address is 650 Suffolk Street, Suite G10, Lowell, MA 01854.

Throughout the month of March, Mill City Grows staff are working with volunteers from the Holderness School, The Mission Continues, and many other individuals to help transition to this new space.

Meetings and program activities will still continue during this time, with many located at partner sites. Once the move is complete, Mill City Grows plans to host tours and an open house at the Suffolk Street location.

Farley White Interests, owner and manager of Wannalancit Mills, has been a committed partner to Mill City Grows for many years, and we look forward to our continued partnership as we move into their space. We are excited about our next chapter at Wannalancit Mills and the new opportunities that will emerge at this new space, which is almost double the size and nearer to the Urban Agriculture Greenhouse on UMass Lowell's East Campus.

We have enjoyed calling Western Avenue home for the past three and a half years. It has been great to be part of such an active, creative, and giving community, and we are thankful for all of the growth and success we enjoyed during our time there.

We are currently seeking volunteers who are interested in helping us transform our new office into a long term home and hub for our food access and education programs. The Mission Continues is joining us for a partner volunteer event, “HerMission Day of Service,” on Saturday, March 16, from 10am to 2pm, and is currently recruiting volunteers to help us with Phase 2 of our move. We also seek volunteers with carpentry, architecture, and interior design experience. If you are interested, please contact Lydia Sisson at lydia@millcitygrows.org or call 978-455-2620.
